

Delta Theta Sigma

Nationals Code of Conduct

Member Expectations

A. Members shall respect the aims and objectives of the Fraternity and shall work within the framework of policies, procedures, guidelines or regulations of the Fraternity and, where applicable, those policies, procedures, guidelines and regulations prescribed by the college or university that the Member attends.

B. Members shall abide by all rules, policies and procedures found in the Fraternity's Constitution and Bylaws, this code of conduct, policy resolutions approved by a Conclave, the National Board, and such additional regulations as may be enacted in accordance with existing rules.

C. Members will strive to conduct themselves according to the Fraternity's principles of Determination, Thoughtfulness and Sincerity.

D. Members shall be responsible for their own behavior, recognizing that their actions reflect upon themselves, their peers, and occasionally others.

E. Members shall avoid actions that violate or diminish the collegial, academic, personal or professional ethics or the legal and civil rights of peers, the public, university personnel, or others who may be affected by their actions.

F. Members shall respect the dignity of all persons and will not physically, mentally, psychologically abuse or haze any human being nor allow themselves to be physically, mentally, psychologically abused or hazed.

G. Members will strive to bring into the Fraternity men who will benefit from conducting themselves according to the Ideals and Principles of the Fraternity and men whose membership in the Fraternity will benefit the Fraternity.

H. Members shall regard, refer, and treat Members and all individuals with civility and respect.

I. Members shall respect their property and the property of others and will neither abuse nor tolerate the abuse of property.

J. Members shall pay any and all chapter and national dues and assessments required for the Member to remain in good standing with the respective chapter and national office.

K. Members in good standing will make efforts to attend weekly chapter meetings and the annual Conclave meeting.

L. Members in good standing will make efforts to support all of the Fraternity's mandated programs.

M. Members who are students shall abide by those academic standards established by the Fraternity and by the college or university as a whole.

N. In addition to this Code of Conduct, all members who attend colleges and universities are expected to abide by the policies and regulations that govern the duties, responsibilities and conduct explicitly or implicitly described in the university's publications.

O. This National Delta Theta Sigma Code of Conduct will need reviewed and signed annually by the Chapter President and the Alumni President of each active chapter. This document will need to be presented to the Secretary at each Annual Conclave.
